

Dear Student/Parent

We'd like to offer you the opportunity to subscribe to a magazine specially designed for students of Media and Film Studies at A Level. MediaMagazine covers a huge variety of texts, topics, issues and controversies in contemporary media, with articles from media analysts and teachers, focused advice from examiners and HE lecturers, interviews with leading creative professionals, and support for research, production work, and career choices. In addition, MediaMagazine provides a unique interactive platform for student writing and production work, offering A Level students the chance to develop their own thinking and writing skills while also adding to their portfolio.

If the school or college subscribes to MediaMagazine, students can have their own subscription delivered to the school for just £12 (4x64-page issues per year).

Have a look at a sample issue of MediaMagazine at www.mediamagazine.org.uk. We hope you'll want to take advantage of this invaluable support for Media and Film Studies A Levels and vocational courses.

Best wishes,

Jenny Grahame

Editor, MediaMagazine

£12.00 Centre subscription

All students at a school or college with a Centre subscription can take out a subscription for just £12!

(N.B: The magazine will be sent to the teacher/librarian who organises the Centre subscription for your school. He or she will then pass on your copy to you.)
